Discussion: Community Enrichment Plan Approach

Community Enrichment Conversation Began at March's Advisory Panel Meeting

- High school is a great community resource and asset
- Increasing diversity in Burnsville has sometimes been viewed as a negative, but the community has begun to turn diversity into a positive
- High school has been part of this evolution; community diversity is often addressed first in schools
- Sometimes people of ethnicities that are newer to the community can be viewed as people who need help primarily, rather than people to get involved in community building and decision-making

Community Enrichment Plan Approach

What do you think will be some of the key “changing needs of the community” relating to community enrichment/community building/community cohesion over the next 10 – 20 years?

Community Enrichment Plan Approach

In broadening the city's previous focus on a youth plan to a community enrichment plan, what other segments of the Burnsville community do you think should be called out in the Comprehensive Plan?

e.g. Youth, families, seniors, adults, multi-cultural

Community Enrichment Plan Approach

What types of community enrichment / growth will be important for Burnsville residents in the future?

For example,

- Civic
- Cultural
- Social interaction
- Education/learning
- Health/fitness
- Safety
- Environmental/sustainability

Community Enrichment Plan Approach

What ideas do you have for how the city and its partners could provide, support, and/or promote community enrichment long-term that would offer all community members opportunities to enrich their lives?

e.g. types of community facilities, programs, services, activities, events, celebrations, and support systems
